To whom it may concern,

It has come to my attention that the Daystar Television Network is vying to remove Public Broadcasting programming from television in Orlando, Florida (and replace it with severely biased programs such as John Hagee).

Take note - I, for one, am completely against such a move! Public Broadcasting contributes to the well-being of communities with its thoughtful, educational programming that encourages critical thinking. It is shameful to think such a move is even being considered, and more shameful to hear that it may be money-induced.

Do the right thing - keep intelligent, objective programming on the air.

Thank you,

Dave Bass
